In this section, we will be explaining our Education System Outline. This will be very helpful for understanding our educational methods and environment. There is also a summary chart at the bottom of this page.

Our Education Ideals

The most important thing about our school education is the education ideals. According to our Education Policy section, there are the following two elements:

- 1, To bring our children up as people who can think and solve problems by themselves.
- 2, To bring our children up as people who can communicate with respect and understanding for all nationalities and cultures worldwide.

Our Development Goals

We focus on five development areas:

- 1, Social / Emotional Development
- 2, Cognitive Development
- 3, Language Development
- 4, Physical Development
- 5, Creative Development

Each area has its own detailed goals. We are sure that by achieving these goals, we will be able to mold each child into our ideal person. You can check these development goal details in the following Development Goals section. We would like to explain more details below about the five development areas.

- 1, Social Development is making and maintaining relationships, responding to others appropriately, and interactions with others during play. We also group Emotional Development in this category, because their emotional growth has a lot to do with social situations. The emotional aspect of childhood development is defined as identifying oneself, controlling emotions, and learning values.
- 2, The second area, Cognitive Development is about obtaining, storing, and retrieving information.
- 3, Language Development is our third area. We look at the development of listening, speaking, writing, and the ability to express one's feelings through English.
- 4, The fourth area we look to is physical. Physical Development deals with large and small muscle control, sensory awareness, and physical growth.
- 5, The last area we note is Creative Development, thinking, expressing, and acting in ways that are unique to each child. Though it is just beginning in preschool and kindergarten, it is an area that should be explored and developed to find strong areas in each individual.
